

The Last Lecture: Writing Response Assignment #3

Overview: Randy credits his professor Andy Van Dam, in chapter 14, with telling him the tough-love things he needed to hear. What was it about Dr. van Dam's delivery and message that resonated with Randy? Who in your own life has told you things about yourself that made you reconsider your actions or behaviors? Write a thank you letter to that person in which you express your appreciation for his/her honesty and how you have grown as a result.

Be insightful and specific in your letter. Demonstrate serious consideration of the assignment, and follow Randy's advice and sincerely model your thanks after his.

As always, your response is to be typed, a MINIMUM of one full page in length, submitted to turnitin.com.

The Last Lecture: Writing Response Assignment #3

Overview: Randy credits his professor Andy Van Dam, in chapter 14, with telling him the tough-love things he needed to hear. What was it about Dr. van Dam's delivery and message that resonated with Randy? Who in your own life has told you things about yourself that made you reconsider your actions or behaviors? Write a thank you letter to that person in which you express your appreciation for his/her honesty and how you have grown as a result.

Be insightful and specific in your letter. Demonstrate serious consideration of the assignment, and follow Randy's advice and sincerely model your thanks after his.

As always, your response is to be typed, a MINIMUM of one full page in length, submitted to turnitin.com.